YEARBOOK

1942

Reserved

Dear Jim,

There is a young fellow named Foltz
Whose shoulders fit well in his coats.
His cheeks are so red,
He has curls on his head,
And I'm sure he eats all his rolled oats.

You're a little dull in that public speaking class. Maybe we can hit the same class next year.

Good luck

Pat B.

Jim Foltz

Dear Jim,
I'm sure glad we met since way back in Arlington, and you always have a swell all around fellow
stay that way.
Lots of Luck,
Sue Williams

Dear Jim:
I think you're swell, and I'm glad you're in my class. Maybe we can have some more fun next year as we have had this year. I hope you and all the women get together, also a lot of hard hitting on that City Champs, football team. I wish that you were going up to the lake with us this year because we are going to have a better.

Good Fortune
Don

Wear Jim
You are admirable fellow - and a good athlete
Best of luck next year.
R. Wilson

Dear Jim
Well this has been a long - hard year but it's sure worth it. I hope we will have as much fun next year as we have this year. I hope you and all the women get together, also a lot of hard hitting on that City Champs, football team. I wish that you were going up to the lake with us this year because we are going to have a better.

Good Fortune
Don

Dear Jim
I'm sure you're a swell fellow
Pat Curtis

Dear Jim
May your fortune
be as fully acquired as your personality. You will always live in my memory as one of my most unforgettable
Characters
Lots of luck
Bill Burnett

Dear Jim,
I always say Pat's
but I think you're a swell fellow
Good Fortune
Don

P.S. Please don't lose Nancy. She's swell!

Dear Jim
Stay as you are
Sincerely
Jean Ann Kennedy

dear Jim,
You are the best and finest boy I've ever known. You are just perfection & thats. I'm glad we have been friends this year. Hope to see you soon after graduate.

Love,
Audrey McGowin

Dear Jim
You sure are a swell fellow and a good football player, & me your pal may. Cops. stay that way. Load of luck next year in football and every thing take you

Ever your pal forever
Al Dawson

Dear Jim
Boy we sure had a great time in Spanish and in English class. Congrats on Hi-Y Pres. again. Here has been pals since we were freshman and I hope we continue our friendship for the rest of our lives. Boy you really have the girls running after you. Keep em that way they think you pritty smarter cute. Just ask any of them. Hope we're out "43"

L. Schudel

Dear Jim,
You're one swell guy and one grand football player. Keep up the good work in football next year and you'll help bring Libbey another championship. Good Luck Ted and I'll see you again next year.

Your (Pal) Fred

Dear Jim,
I don't really know you, but I would like to.

Ronga Bigelow
"44"

Dear Jim,
Well, you're one of the guys I'll never forget you. I'm expecting great things from you next year. Don't let me down. We should have some fun but it continue - in S.C. → Good luck for a championship

Presents

Dear Jim,

I decided to write on this page for a certain reason. It is on that field that you have shown the stuff that you have in you. I have watched you and admired you as you have torn other teams apart. The best part of it all was that I thought as you were running that I was a friend of yours. You do not realize how much I value your friendship. I want to wish you the best of luck in everything that you do from now on.

Your ardent admirer,
Bob Jarvis

TOLEDO . . . THE GLASS

Contributing to the safety and comfort and the culture of every part of the globe, Toledo has not only worked in the perfection of plate and flat drawn sheet glass but has offered, in the creation of the model of an automatic glass-blowing machine, the greatest single contribution to the mass production of glass in the entire five thousand years of glass history. Safety-glass, heat resistant glass, tempered plate glass, glass building block, colored structural glass, X-Ray glass, heat-absorbing glass, glass-fibre insulation and textiles make us cleaner, healthier, wealthier, and happier. From dawn until the new dawn, obviously or obscurely, glass is serving to give the world greater efficiency and beauty.

People Who Live in Glass Houses . . .

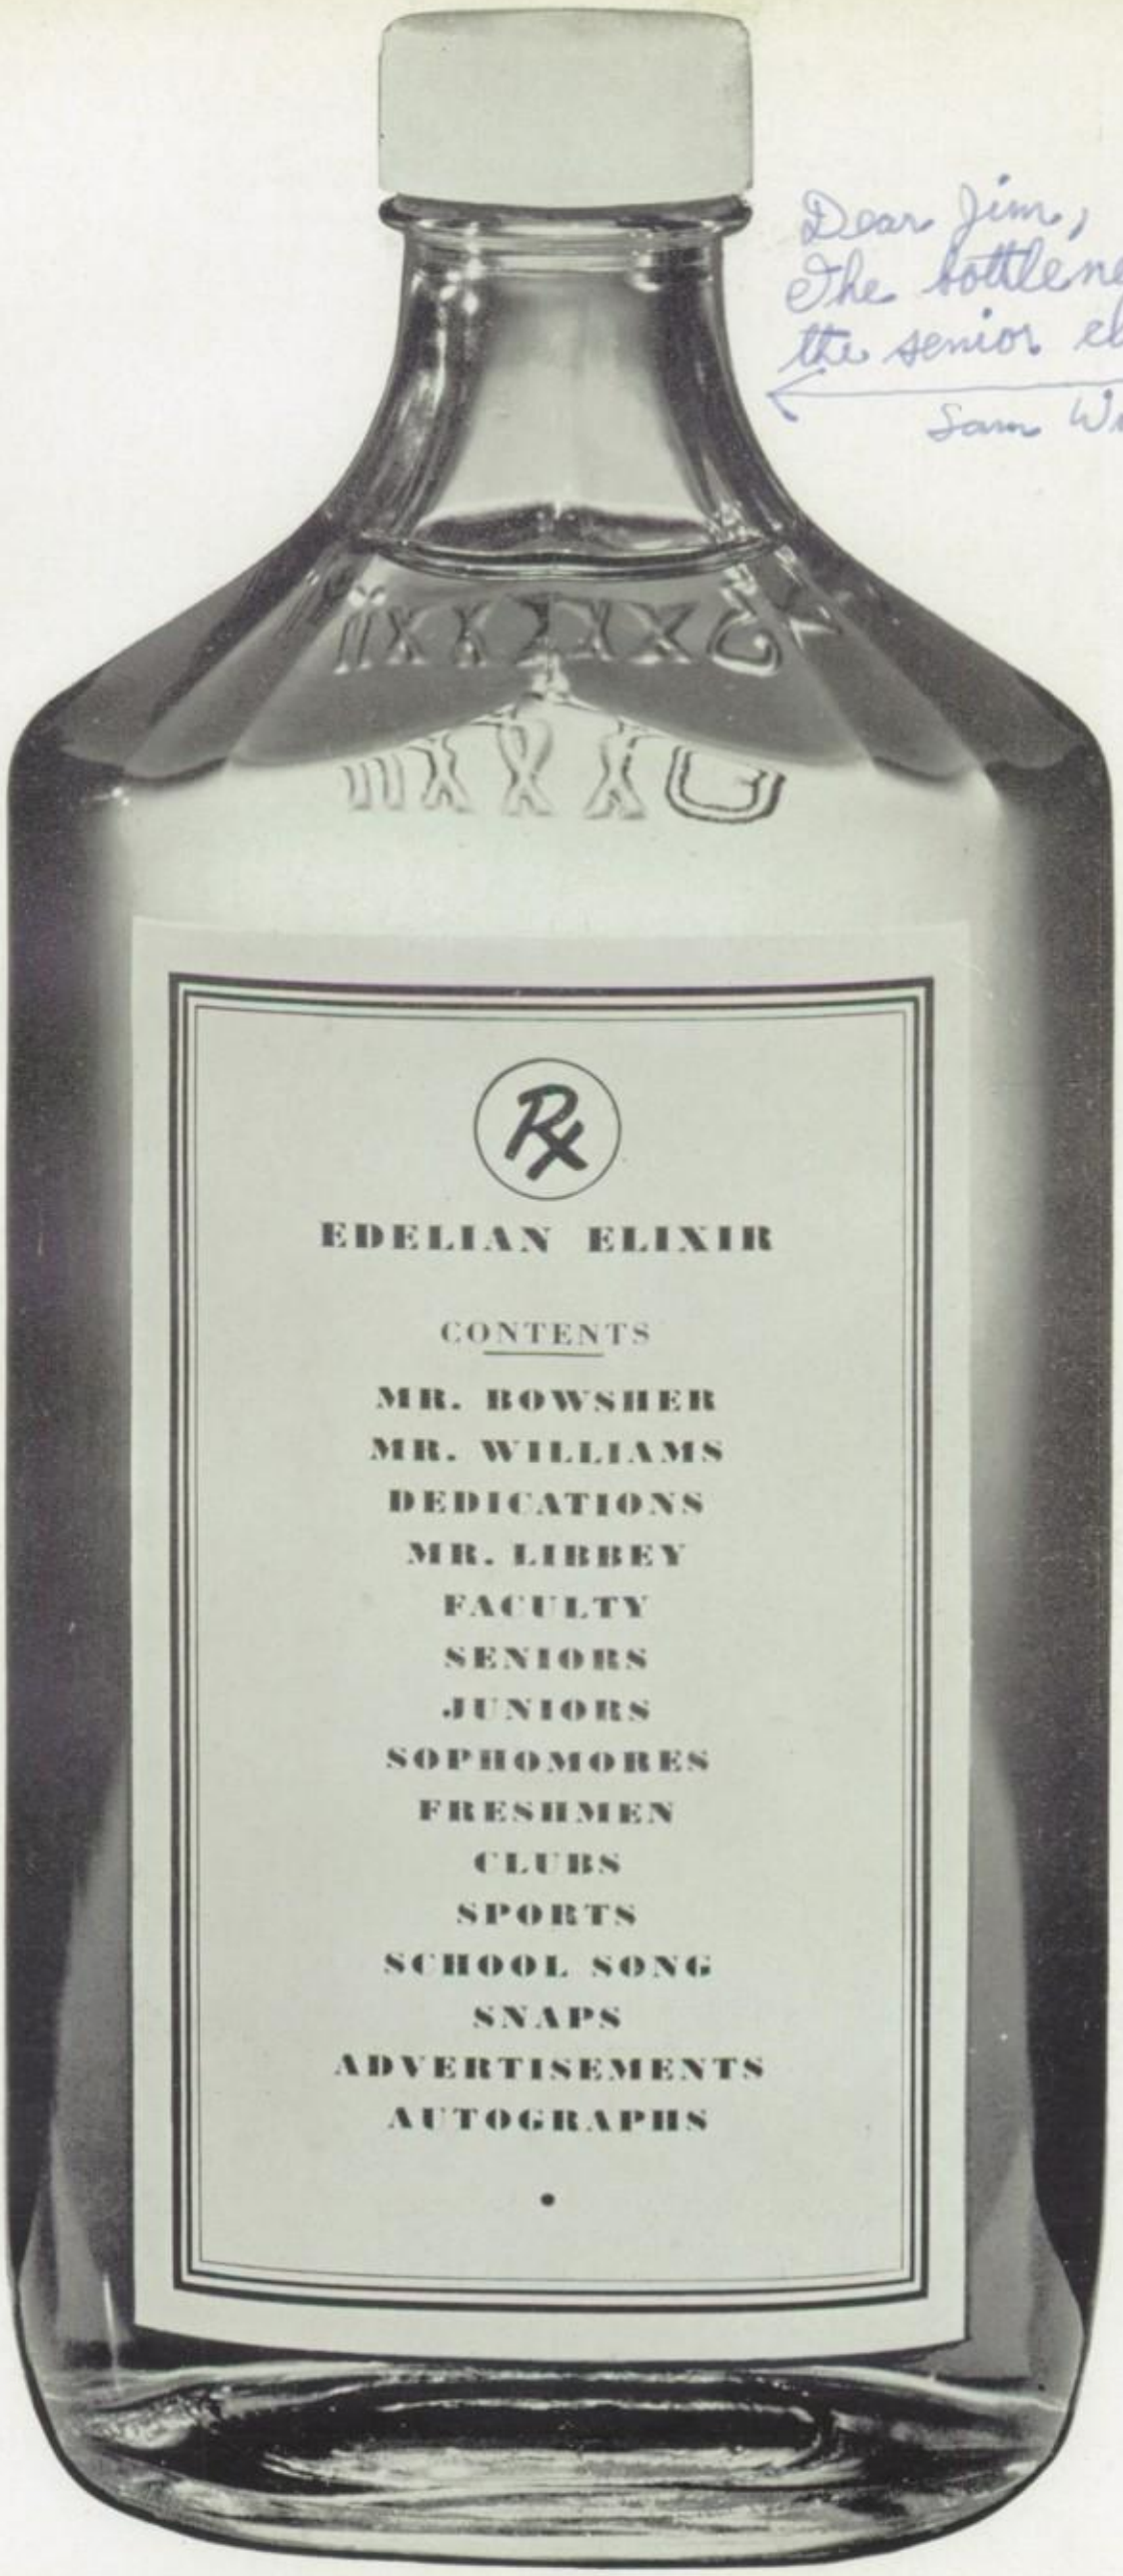
are very well-informed indeed because they miss never a thing that goes on about them. So it is that as the editor-in-chief, Faun Stoll, the associate editor, Lois Pohlman, working with Bonnie Freeman, circulation manager, and Marilyn Kaiser, advertising manager, are able to present for your delight and interest this Edelian. Happily we are using as a background for our school activities the thought of the manufacture of glass for which Toledo is so widely famed.



Dear Jim,
The bottleneck of the senior class.
Sam Wohlfort

EDWARD L. BOWSHER

SUPERINTENDENT OF TOLEDO SCHOOLS

Although our contacts with our superintendent, Mr. Edward L. Bowsher, are somewhat limited because of the diversification of his duties, we are constantly aware of his effort in the careful administration of the schools of our city. As departing seniors we extend him our congratulations upon the progress he has achieved from which we have so directly benefited, and we offer him our best wishes for his continued success.

HAROLD E. WILLIAMS

PRINCIPAL OF LIBBEY HIGH SCHOOL

To our seniors who enter life in the most momentous year of the present century will remain the strengthening influence of the man who during the past four years has taught us honesty and goodness and truth. May our future courage and endeavor express to our loved principal and friend, Mr. Harold E. Williams, the gratitude we owe him for his fine example of living and for the ideals of his teachings, and may Libbey ever prosper under his wise and efficient guidance.

GERTRUDE IRENE PAYNE

If the way to have a friend is to be one, there is small wonder in the fact that one little lady in our school is loved by everyone who knows her. As enthusiastic about teaching today as she was during her very first year, the place that Miss Gertrude Payne holds in Libbey High School is difficult to define. Born in Adrian, Michigan, and having been educated in the elementary and secondary schools of that town, Miss Payne came to Toledo where she progressively studied at the Toledo Normal School, the University of Toledo, and Columbia University. Her early teaching experience was gained at Roosevelt Grade School, formerly called Waite. She interrupted her teaching career by a period of work with the Research Department of the Chamber of Commerce to resume it again as instructor in Woodward Junior High School for Boys. As part of her professional service to the city, she served as president of the Toledo Teachers' Association and has been active for years in various committees of that organization. Coming to Libbey in its second year, Miss Payne entered the faculty as a teacher of Business English and English, and interested herself immediately in the organization of the Girls' Friendship Club, which she has sponsored so actively and so ardently ever since. Parallelling her work in teaching have been her years of service at St. Paul's Methodist Church, where she has held the position of superintendent of the junior department of the Sunday school for a great many years. Her summers are always divided into periods of traveling—north, east, south, west—of working in vacation-Bible school, and in helping in Y.W.C.A. projects, particularly in girls' camps.

In addition to her fine teaching, Miss Payne has been of immeasurable service to Libbey because for so many years she has taken literally thousands of snap-shots for both the Crystal and the Edelian. Co-operative, kindly, enthusiastic, and exceedingly helpful, Miss Payne has endeared herself to many. It is, therefore, with the most joyous affection and the very best of wishes, that the Senior Class of Nineteen Forty-two dedicate this Edelian to her, their teacher, and their very good friend.

DEDICATION

TOLEDO'S MUSEUM OF ART

Fortunate youth of Toledo, who have the privilege of participating in the varied activities, not only cultural but practical also, that our Art Museum affords! It is well to remind ourselves often that the beauty of this magnificent center is part of Toledo largely through the generous thought and work of Mr. Edward Drummond Libbey.

EDWARD DRUMMOND LIBBEY

To have lived not in one's self alone is to live always in the hearts of others. Thus we honor and revere the memory of Edward Drummond Libbey, the man for whom our school was named and through whose genius the glass industry of Toledo was developed. Libbey also honors our benefactor by euphoniously combining the initials of his name into the title EDELIAN.

Philosophy of Libbey High School

We believe that the secondary school, as a directing agent for the promotion of the democratic way of life, exists for the purpose of the intellectual, spiritual, physical, cultural, and vocational development of the youth of our nation.

We believe that with its policies based on the will and the needs of a changing society, (locally, nationally, and internationally) the school should be cooperative and efficient and should assume the position of leadership for progress within the community.

We further believe that the essential task of the secondary school lies in its two-fold and inseparable program of educating the student both as an individual and as a member of society.

Accordingly, the school should endeavor to develop in each student a sense of his own power and interests; a mastery of the knowledge, skills, and attitudes necessary for effective living; the capacity for the intelligent solving of problems and for harmonious adjustments to changing conditions; and the zeal not only to accept the accumulated knowledge of civilization but to enrich it by his own contributions.

The school should also endeavor, on the social side, to help the student to understand, in the light of the American tradition, the necessity of responsible citizenship, of intelligent cooperation, and of racial, religious, and political tolerance. The student should be further helped to realize the dignity and worth of labor, the need for efficient and democratic leadership, and the importance of character as the keystone of a well organized society. ★ ★ ★ ★

OUR VOYAGE

We are the youth of today,
Embarking upon a momentous voyage;
Our course lies in the uncharted waters
Of the stormy sea of life.
We know not our final destination,
But we are not sailing blindly ahead;
Our craft is piloted by Him
Who stills the turbulent sea
And brings peace to troubled souls.

Our cargoes—heavy burdens—may slow our progress;
Bombs of fear and hate may rend our superstructures;
Our dreams may be shattered
By torpedoes of disappointment;
Our desires become flotsam on the troubled waters.
But when all seems dark and futile,
A glimmer of light will penetrate the somber sky
And give us new hope to journey onward.

Our voyage will never be smooth,
For we are approaching a mighty tempest
Which could crush our ideals
And leave our derelict hopes
To flounder in the murky depths of despair.
But at last the harbor lights of freedom
Will guide us through the raging waters
To the shores of tranquillity and peace.

Nancy MacPhie

VALEDICTORY

"Not gold, but only men can make
A people, great and strong.
Men who for truth and honor's sake
Stand fast and suffer long.
Brave men who work, while others sleep
Who dare, while others fly.
They build a nation's pillars up
And lift them to the sky."

We are the men and women of America; in our hands is placed the future of this world. Upon our shoulders rests the burden of continents in bondage. The terrific pressure of preparedness, defense, and war has bent, but not broken, the back-bone of our nation. Our might, the might of the youth of America, shall carry the weight of the earth and shall furnish strength to our cause. Years ago, Samuel Adams, espousing the cause of independence, spoke these words:

> "Courage, then, my countrymen; our contest is not only whether we ourselves shall be free, but whether there shall be left to mankind an asylum on earth for civil and religious liberty."

Classmates, in leaving Libbey and setting out into a world at war, we shall need courage. Our school has been only a haven, teaching us the practices and principles of democracy. Now we must apply our minds to world problems. Mankind depends upon us to extend our knowledge throughout the world that they might be free. We have learned loyalty and patriotism to our school, and with these come loyalty and patriotism to our country. Education has instilled this spirit within us. From ancient times education of the proletariat has been the downfall of tyranny and oppression. Now is the time to let our education be the "Waterloo" of dictatorship. Before we entered the war, "getting by" was the motto of most students. From this time forth, however, "getting by" is not enough; it is our duty to give the best of our ability to whatever task lies before us.

Patrick Henry at the Revolutionary Convention in his greatest speech, "The Call to Arms," personally declared war on England saying:

> "There is no retreat but in submission and slavery! . . . . The war is inevitable; and let it come! I repeat it, sirs, let it come! . . . . Gentlemen may cry, 'Peace! Peace!' but there is no peace. The war is actually begun . . . . What is it that the gentlemen wish? . . . . Is life so dear, or peace so sweet, as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God! I know not what course others may take; but as for me, give me liberty or give me death!"

France is paying the price of peace! Today death is more preferable than life under the oppression and the domination of dictatorship. We, too, must declare war on the evil forces at work in the world now or suffer a life unbearable to our accustomed mode of living. We must have a passion—a passion to win at all costs—or we have been defeated before we have begun. If there is not a lump in our throats when we hear the "Star Spangled Banner" or if there is not rage in our hearts at the thought of such an infamous attack on our shores, then in combat and in our minds we shall have become simply machines, caring little which side the battle swings. Are we living in an age in which it is a crime to show extreme emotion? Have we become patterned after the German people, who are cautioned not to show distress at the loss of a loved one? I sincerely hope and believe not!

Our forefathers had an ideal and a passion, and they fought and died for them. We will fight; and some of us will die, but that spirit, the spirit of Americanism, the spirit of freemen everywhere, shall live if we devote ourselves to the sacred cause of Constitutional Liberty! I propose that we abjure the interests and passions which divide the great family of American freemen and that we resolve that our children shall have cause to bless the memory of their fathers as we have cause to bless the memory of ours!

Today, one of the most important days in our lives, we wish our parents to know that we appreciate their love for and patience with us and to know that we desire in part, at least, to repay them for their sacrifices. To Mr. Williams, our principal, we give our best regards and hope that he will continue to guide and guard the students of Libbey High School as he has watched over us. We know that without him Libbey would be just another high school, not a school with personality and character. Under the experienced instruction of the teachers, we have learned many things. Theirs has been a trying job, and we thank them for their perseverance in teaching us. To our school, farewell, but not good-bye. We can never say good-bye, for everything learned here is a part of Libbey; and when we leave we carry that part away.

Farewell! America calls. We have slept long enough; the enemy has worked too long. Let us, therefore, awaken, use the knowledge we have stored, and lead the world to victory and to freedom! This is the task which lies before us. Into our hands is committed the future of generations to come. Citizens of tomorrow, Seniors of Libbey High School, let us give our best that America shall be a better nation and that the world shall have peace and security.

Row 2: Jerry Monetta, Georgia Reasor, Miss Dusha, Mr. Martin, Vivian Dais, Marilyn Kaiser, Mary Lou Rohrbacker.

THE EDELIAN

At last we've done it! Put the entire world into the Edelian. At least upon the cover where a bright red star symbolizes Toledo as the center of the glass industry of the world. And how the staff planned and replanned in this edition of the yearbook, for the events of the year since December have made many differences in their original ideas of September. However, the appreciation of the seniors as the book was presented at the class banquet in May repaid the members of the staff for their long hours of arduous work and the thousands of steps they took in checking data.

Unusual work in interviewing and organizing was done by the Editor-in-chief, Faun Stoll, whose gaiety and enthusiasm kept everyone happy all year. The conscientious associate editor, Lois Pohlman, was always ready to help the other workers, including Donna Pollex, Senior editor; Georgia Reasor, Faculty editor; Alice Thompson, Club editor; and Bob Wilcox, Sports editor. Bob also spent much time trying to discover the secrets of the rest of the staff. Associate workers in the editorial department included Jerry Monetta, Jane Moore, Suzanne Tonkin, Jim Tallman, and Jim Yutzy. The typing was done by Lucy Emerson.

The five snaps in the athletic and student life section were taken by Miss Payne who each year gives so much time and enthusiasm to this production. Under the guidance of Mr. Martin, the business adviser, the sales and distributions of the Edelians were cared for. The advertising publicity, the collections, the records, the selling of ads, and the final distributing of the books form the duties of the business department. In charge of subscriptions were Bonnie Freeman, Phyllis Kennedy and Marjorie Hemsoth; while the work of advertising was done by Marilyn Kaiser, Mary Lou Rohrbocher, and Williston O'Connell.

Never too busy to help steady the staff in making important final decisions or to aid them in any way possible, Mr. Williams stimulated every one to do his best work; while Miss Dusha, the director of the Edelian, was always alertly on the job.

CRYSTAL

What gives all the news about school clubs, classes, sports, faculty, and students? The answer is obvious—the Crystal, of course! Each of the ten issues, crammed full of facts, news, features, sports, and personals, is sold for five cents or obtained by an activities ticket. Libbey has an unusual feature not included in most papers, the picture page, designed by Nancy MacPhie, art editor, under Miss Bartley's supervision. One main theme is chosen for each issue. Miss Payne, snapshot adviser, takes the pictures. Some of the best remembered were the Cowboy Rodeo of the football players, the patriotic page, and the page of carollers at Christmas. During the first semester, Chester Sullwold and Jean Marcy were co-editors, but when the opportunity presented itself, Chet went to the University, leaving Jean at the helm. Howard Mentzer and Carl Weinstock also left for college the second semester, Howard to T. U. and Carl to Oberlin. Miss Gerdes is the literary adviser for the paper. The assistant editor for the year was Jo Ann Peters. Others on the staff were Jo Ann Simmons and Wilma Larger, news editors; Rosemary Roach, editorial editor; feature editors, Bettelou Watkins and Margaret Haas; Gordon Gomoll, sports editor. The business was handled by Dora Stump, while Jeanne Farman took care of exchange. The other members of the class were Tom Frank, Jack Hutchinson, Bob Trumbull, and five junior girls.

The Crystal staff attended the journalism convention at Woodward in April. They prepared the display of all high school papers, at the convention and in a downtown store window. The junior and senior issues were both outstanding. Buried within the senior paper were the prophecy, class will, history, and senior news. The junior issue was brought out by the cub reporters, most of whom are members of the journalism class. All news concerning the younger students of the school was emphasized in this issue.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

A proud look and a joyous glance from a member of a certain group while coming from the auditorium may be identified as the symbol characteristics of a new member of the National Honor Society. What a thrill it is to be sitting quietly and calmly in the auditorium and suddenly be startled to hear Mr. Williams calling your name to become a member of the National Honor Society! No wonder each student, thus honored, is happy as he steps to the front of the auditorium to be inducted into the honorary society, the highest goal to be achieved in high school.

There are four requirements for a National Honor member to have to be eligible for membership. First, he must excel in his studies and be an outstanding student with a high average. This is the basis of scholarship. Then, he must have character worthy of praise and admiration. To choose the paths of right at all times, to deal honestly with others, to recognize virtue—all these are included in the definition of character. The person who has these two traits must also have two others. A natural born leader is fine, but a self-made one is better. One who can train himself to be a good follower eventually becomes the best leader. A member of the National Honor Society, therefore, must be a good follower as well as one of the best leaders. The last characteristic of a member of this organization is the quality of service. Service to the school, service to his friends, service to mankind, and service to God—all these are to be fulfilled for a true leader and Christian. Thus, it is hard work and unselfish thought that makes a student a member of this society. That is the reason that the organization becomes the highest goal to be achieved by the high school student.

The symbols of the society are the flaming torch and the keystone. The newly inducted members have these symbols explained to them before they repeat the oath of membership. The keystone symbolizes the high ideals of the organization and represents the stable foundation upon which the education of young people must be erected. The flaming torch represents the flaming light of truth which the members of the National Honor Society hold to guide others in the paths of right. These two symbols are inscribed on the regular National Honor pins which the members are privileged to wear always as a proof of membership. This will prove valuable in the future to many seeking positions in the world. The certificate of membership which each member receives when he is inducted serves as a permanent hall permit. This is a privilege given only to members of the honorary organization. The method of choosing students for membership is as follows: the names listed in the upper third of the senior class and the high fifteenth of the junior class are voted on individually by each teacher as to the qualities of leadership, character, and service; and the finest people of the group are thus chosen to become members. From the group of juniors come the officers of the society for the following year.

This year the National Honor Society enjoyed a Christmas party in Mr. Hunt's room just before the holiday vacation and a party in honor of the new members early in the spring. A large number of the National Honor Society members took part in the state scholarship tests which were given in Libbey for the first time, for all high school students in Toledo who are able to qualify.

During the year, regular meetings of the group were held during the fifth hour in the auditorium and were conducted by Edward Yosses, president; Donna Pollex, secretary-treasurer. The group was ably guided in all of its activities by Principal Harold E. Williams and Mr. Eugene R. Hunt.

PERIES

Since the opening of Libbey, the motto, "Second to none," has been synonymous with the name, Pericleans. You probably didn't know who was who until the Peries appeared last fall in their plaid sweaters with "Peri" written on the collars. Things began to hum when the girls started on their whirl of social activities with a hayride and roast at Side-Cut Park. Talk about fun and excitement! This affair was an excellent example, with plenty of flying hay. Next in line, with an old-fashioned school atmosphere, the girls put on the program for the DeVilbiss mass meeting. Then just one breath and they were speeding on with plans for their annual dance, the "Dog House Drag." Miss Dusha, adviser for the Peries, and the committee: Blanche Perkins, Janice Clark, Nancy MacPhie, Jean Young and Suzanne Tonkin, were responsible for its outstanding success. To carry out the holiday spirit the girls had a Christmas party after their last meeting before vacation. Nancy MacPhie, program chairman, arranged several interesting programs based on South America. Thus it was quite significant that the Peries should visit the Art Museum and observe the Chilean exhibit.

When April came along, the Peries gave their annual Mothers' and Faculty Tea in the Libbey Library. The guest speaker, Mrs. W. O. Bonser, showed pictures and gave a talk on her trip to Guatemala. The Periclean's Spring Banquet and dance were held in the Tower Room of the Hillcrest. At this affair, the adviser, Miss Dusha, and the officers: Jo Ann Peters, president; Blanche Perkins, vice president; Janice Fulton, recording secretary; Lois Ryan, corresponding secretary; Jeanne Farman, treasurer; Nancy MacPhie, censor; and Rosemary Weston, chaplain, were honored. To close their year of social and literary activities, the Peries held a picnic on the lawn at the home of Jo Ann Peters.

PHILS

"Ugh! Ugh! me a Phil!" What! Indians in Libbey? No, not real Indians, but real Libbey girls, remembering their "Wigwam Stomp" at the happy dancing ground, Trilby Log Cabin. Big chief of the affair was Eloise Bucher, and her chieftains were Wilma Larger, Bettelou Watkins, Rosemary Roach, and Betty Jackson. Heap good work, there! The Phils haven't been sleeping this year in activities. No, indeed. Besides their dance, they held a roast in the fall, a doughnut sale, two teas, a Scott Mass Meeting, and a banquet in the spring. The Mothers' Tea was held in the cafeteria, in patriotic theme, where the seniors received their gifts. The roast at Pearson Park was fun, with the rain coming through the roof and the boys finding roasting forks growing on trees! As a grand finale, the girls held their annual banquet at Heatherdowns Country Club. The committee, June Miller, Gloria Moore, Pat Barton, and Josephine Knott, with able and active Betty Ann Larsen at its head, also planned the semi-formal dance afterwards, when dates came to join the girls and dance in the large ballroom. Everyone wants to look and act his best at all times. Realizing this, the Phils chose "Appearance and Manners" as their literary theme of the year.

Miss Gerdes, the very capable adviser, decided that she needed a little assistance in advising this sizable club, so the girls elected another leader, Miss Allen. She "took over" about the middle of the year and is now a regular part of the literary society. The officers helping these fine advisers were Jo Ann Simmons, president; Eloise Bucher, vice president; Dora Stump, recording secretary; Jean Collins, treasurer; Bettelou Watkins, senior censor; Betty Jackson, junior censor; Wilma Larger, chaplain; and Rosemary Roach, reporter. This cabinet did a fine job in leading the society in a round of activities.

Z E T S

Last fall, one of the first societies to blossom forth in their yearly emblems, was the Zets, sporting pale-green, V-necked sweaters with white, monogrammed dickies. Success seems to follow these attractive girls in whatever they attempt. This was proved by the Waite-Libbey mass meeting. Who can forget those Halloween costumes, decorations, and above all, that lively little Waite cheerleader? With this success behind them, the Zets celebrated with a roast at Fort Meigs, where merry-making prevailed. Of course, the money situation arose and to get around this problem, potato chip sales followed. The outstanding event of the year for the Zets was their annual dance, the "Hobo Hop," held at Trilby Log Cabin in March. Joyce Menke, chairman of the dance committee, was assisted by Betty Munson, Patsy Goode, and June MacDonald.

The literary and musical contributions of the American wars was this club's theme for the year. This topic was both interesting and appropriate. To finish the year perfectly, the girls held their annual formal banquet in May. All the seniors were feted at this affair, but the officers were especially honored. The president, Ruth Snyder, was assisted throughout the year by the following girls: Joyce Menke, vice president, Patsy Goode, secretary, Martha Lawrence, treasurer, Mary Shoemaker, sergeant-at-arms, and Ruth Wollenweber, chaplain. The advisers of the Zetalethean literary society are Miss Grace DeLisle, Miss Grace Henderson, and Miss Aileen Eberth.

Q. D'S AND FORUM

What have we got here? Why, it's the Q. D.'s and the Forum. They couldn't be missed with the Q. D.'s flashy, orange sweaters and the Forum's yellow shirts and blue sweaters. The events of their social program stand out also. Take for instance, the Q. D.'s fall roast. The boys will gladly assure you that this was a success to the nth degree. Then what about their dance in May? It may have been the last Lit dance of the year, but it certainly wasn't the least successful. The boys had a mighty swell dance at Trilby Log Cabin. Following its usual custom, the club held its annual banquet late in the school year; and of course they had the traditional Q. D. picnic shortly before school closed. With Mr. Cony as their adviser the officers were headed by Jim Harms, president, assisted by John Schneider, vice president; Denver Duffey, secretary; Bob Trumbull, treasurer; and Eddie Burrus, sergeant-at-arms.

The usual roast was held by Forum this fall also, followed by two dances out at Fort Meigs for the members. They seem to be very successful with their dances, for it will be a long time before anyone who went, will forget the "Beta Blitz," their annual dance which was held at the Secor Hotel. In the spring the club held another roast. Their banquet was held in May as in previous years and then followed their picnic at the end of the year. Those are always exciting for the members. With Mr. Hosler and Mr. Hotchkiss as the club's advisers, the officers headed by Sam Sloan, president, carried out their duties very efficiently. Sam was assisted by Tom Heiner, vice president; Tom Watson, secretary; Joe Dick, treasurer; and Charles Elliott, sergeant-at-arms.

SENIOR FRIENDSHIP

Service to others is the common good of two splendid organizations in Libbey: the Senior Friendship and the Junior Red Cross Chapter. Under the advisership of that highly capable person, Miss Payne, the Senior Friendship Club enjoyed a most successful year. With the entrance of our country into the World War the activities of the club were naturally increased. Knitting, crocheting and doing hospital work for the Red Cross as well as adopting orphans and serving for district nurses are just a few of the ways these girls came to the aid of their country. This group was responsible for the Lenten Services held in the school for the student body. They also presented the Easter play. Not all of the activities of the Senior Friendship Club were on the serious side, however. There was the officers' breakfast, the Christmas party, the bowling party, the Recognition Service and Mothers' Tea. And, of course, the football banquet for the players and their mothers. A banquet for mothers and daughters finished the year following the annual "Womanless Wedding," that amazing bit of hilarity that never ceases to be funny.

At various times throughout the year, the girls sold candy and doughnuts to replenish their treasury. One of the outstanding meetings of the year was the one that was held on February 26, 1942. Every girl should have heard the three talks that were given by Virgil Mooney, Ed Shepler, and Williston O'Connell. These talks were about girls and the relationship between girls and boys. Virgil talked about conversation while on a date; Ed had a humorous talk about dates and what you should and should not do on your first date. Williston's talk was about make-up.

SENIOR FRIENDSHIP - RED CROSS

The Friendship Clubs are a part of the Girl Reserve Movement, the Younger Girls' section of the Y.W.C.A. Their purpose is "To find and give the best." Their slogan is "To face life squarely." The club this year was under the able direction of Rosemary Roach, president; Helen Lloyd, vice-president; Pauline Lantz, secretary; Carolyn Wolff, treasurer; Vaneta Stallbaum, chaplain; and Janet Santelli, program chairman.

Apples! Apples! Apples!—this was the first cry of the new born Junior Red Cross Chapter in Libbey this fall. Although this was their first cry they made a grand success of it, and have been heard of constantly since. Scrapbooks, favors, and pocket-toys were sent to cheer up the children in the County Hospital. Sweaters, afghans, sweetboxes, and books warmed both body and soul of the boys in camp. Most of the club's projects were to promote benefits for national defense, but the members still found time to help with the Christmas baskets and to collect clothing for the needy. Under the efficient adviser, Miss Voorheis, the officers: Gladys Harrell, president; Bob Geiger, vice-president; Dora Gearhart, secretary; and Don Watt, treasurer; planned a delightful roast for their last big event of the year. They have learned how to walk during their first year, but next year they plan to keep everyone on the run.

JUNIOR FRIENDSHIP

The purpose of the Friendship Clubs is to stand for good school work, wholesome pleasures, a friendly spirit, helpfulness to others and a normal, happy, friendship with Jesus Christ. The Junior Friendship Club has worked and played with that purpose uppermost in mind. This year they started off with a skating party which was loads of fun. Then they had, following the skating party, a banquet for mothers and daughters. Throughout the year these girls visited the ladies at the Lucas County Home and cheered them up. The girls were there twice during the year and presented the shut-ins with ten dollars worth of books. This club also visited the orphans at the Miami Children's Home twice and gave the children a Valentine party and an Easter party.

The war was touched upon by the beautiful patriotic service given by the group. The Sophomore and Senior Friendship girls were asked to attend. The study of useful vocations was also considered by the Junior group. The tea for the Seniors was a huge success.

The meetings of the efficient group were always very interesting. One of their amusing pastimes was singing under the direction of Mrs. Schell, while she played for them on the piano.

The Junior Friendship was conducted under the very able advisership of Miss Allen and Miss Irwin. The officers of the club were as follows: president, Susan Carrithers; vice-president, Miriam Price; recording secretary, Suzanne Tonkin; corresponding secretary, Perses Norwood; treasurer, Wilma Sperber; chaplain, Ruth Robeson.

SOPHOMORE FRIENDSHIP

No club in Libbey has worked harder or had more fun than the Sophomore Friendship Club. This energetic group has taken the work seriously and has done many really fine things this year. They have two meetings each month: one for programs and fun and one for business. And when they say business, they really mean business. Usually some person of civic importance speaks at these meetings. Police-woman Mrs. Margaret Slater, gave a most interesting talk on March 5. Every Saturday these girls went to Flower Hospital and made bandages for the Red Cross. And, of course, every spare moment they knit, knit, knit. One of the grander things accomplished by this group was the sending of two girls to Camp Walbridge for two weeks in the summer. They have made themselves loved by the orphans at the Miami Children's Home for the good work they have done for that institution. Among other things, they gave the children a Christmas party and a Valentine party.

Lack of space makes it impossible to enumerate all the activities of the Sophomore Friendship Club. The bang-up skating party at the Y, the Pot Luck Dinner, the Theatre Party, the Tea after the recognition service are only a few high lights. Potato chip sales helped to fix up the treasury. The guiding hands behind all this are those two worthy advisers, Mrs. Black and Miss Gilbert. Much credit is also due the officers of the club: Jean Martin, president; Marylin Riehle, vice-president; Beverly Windnazel, recording secretary; Mary Margaret Luech, corresponding secretary; Betty Campbell, treasurer; and Gloria Corbett, chaplain.

SENIOR HI-Y

The events of the fateful seventh of December changed the program but not the purpose of one of Libbey's outstanding groups, the Hi-Y clubs. Always emphasizing the importance of character training and the value of Christian ideals as the basic principles of a life of service, these boys have, during the past year, extended their program to include a larger field of endeavor than ever before. The Senior Hi-Y, under the wise and kindly guidance of Principal Harold E. Williams, who is assisted by Mr. Ivan Smith of the South Side Y.M.C.A., set the pace for the two junior organizations of the Hi-Y in Libbey. Most of the activities of these groups were combined. Thus at the bi-monthly meetings the three divisions participated in interesting programs at which some of the speakers were Mr. O. B. Kirk, Director of Activities in Scott High School; Mr. Earl Grebe, News Analyst at W.S.P.D.; Mr. Donald Parks, Vocational Guidance Director at Toledo, Ohio; Mr. James Uebelhart, news commentator at W.S.P.D., and the Reverend Lloyd Holloway, each of whom emphasized the interesting phases of his work.

In conjunction with the Friendship Clubs the Hi-Y groups helped to arrange the inspiring Lenten services that were held in our auditorium during the pre-Easter season. The reverence and attention of the students must have afforded great satisfaction to the boys and girls who made this type of service possible to the school. Throughout February at the Y.M.C.A. a series of four forums were conducted by the Libbey Hi-Y. While the general theme of these discussions was religion and its influence upon the lives of young people, there was also much interest in the topic of the relations of our country and South America and in the discussion of vocations. The Hi-Y program of arranging a correlation of men in business and professions and the boys of the school was continued. Leading the Senior Hi-Y were Jack Felkey, president; Kenny Leininger, vice-president; Chester Sullwold, secretary (this position was later filled by George Hagedon, because Chester entered Toledo University); Bob Geiger, treasurer; and Williston O'Connell, Chaplain.

JUNIOR HI-Y

Collaborating at all times with their senior colleagues, the Junior Hi-Y boys began their full activities with a get-together pot-luck party at the Central Y and laid plans for the initiation of the Sophomore Hi-Y which is, of course, newly organized each fall. A rousing time was enjoyed at the Skating Party at Memorial Hall, and numerous other social events were enjoyed, those especially remembered being the spring roast and later the annual picnic.

A most noteworthy activity of all three sections of the Hi-Y was the formation of first-aid classes, conducted at evening sessions for the Senior group by Miss Lois Entemann, for the Juniors by Miss Lydia Fiedler on Thursday afternoons, for the Sophomore lads on Monday afternoon by Dr. Young. The entire group also volunteered enthusiastically in the call to collect iron for Defense.

During the first semester a number of the boys attended the State Hi-Y Conference held in Springfield, Ohio. The three presidents: Jack Felkey, Jim Foltz, and Hobart Stevens, along with about a dozen other members, were present at this conference and brought back helpful ideas and suggestions learned from their Ohio neighbors. Plans were later made for attendance during the summer at Camp Storer, the Hi-Y camp in Michigan. Of great importance was the annual Mothers' and Sons' banquet held in May in the Libbey cafeteria.

SOPHOMORE HI-Y

Privileged to wear the green sweaters bearing the insignia of the Hi-Y, a group of sophomore boys began early in the year to prepare to train themselves to carry on for three years the traditions that the Hi-Y has established at Libbey. After the beautiful and impressive ritual of initiation was concluded these youngsters, full-fledged members now, began to take part in whatever activities the varied program of the group at large offered. Adding their enthusiasm and ingenuousness to the sturdy interest of the older boys, they participated in all the meetings, forums, first aid activities, and social events that made up the year's program. As their own individual problem the Sophomore Hi-Y tried hard throughout the year to learn the standards and ideals of the club, to realize the importance of their own relation to the school, and to the community, and to fit themselves to carry on as examples of fine character, good scholarship, and kindly service to others.

Responsible for the work of training these young boys in the traditions of the organization and in the nobler aspects of Christian living was Mr. George Kiefer, their adviser. The officers elected last fall who helped make the year one of interest to the members were Hobart Stevens, president; Ray McNeill, vice-president; Richard Wittmann, secretary-treasurer; and Kenneth Sprengel, chaplain.

ACTIVITIES - STUDENT COUNCIL

Something new has been added! A student council, to help in the manifold affairs of Libbey, a no small part of which is the very active Activities Department that, under the stimulating leadership of Mr. Martin, functions so efficiently for the school. An outstanding merit of the Activities Department has been the willingness of its members to give much of their time during the summer to prepare the activities tickets program and the athletic publicity. Throughout the year the financial, distributive, and recording duties pertaining to the activities tickets were cared for by Vivian Dais and her aids: Betty Strayer and Jane Tunks. The Edelian subscriptions were looked after by Bonnie Freeman and Phyllis Kennedy and Marjorie Hemsoth; the advertising of the Edelian was supervised by Marilyn Kaiser, Mary Lou Rohrbocher, and Williston O'Connell. The diversified duties of the athletic publicity were shared by the entire staff; the mimeographing and printing was directed, however, by Floyd Ramsdell and Boris Banghoff. Constantly assisting Mr. Martin was Mrs. Jerry Rothlisberger who adds this service to Libbey to her regular work in the school's office.

The Student Council and Court organized last fall by popular vote was made up of four members of the faculty and twelve representative students. The president, Denver Duffey; the vice-president, Suzanne Tonkin; and the secretary were counseled by Principal Harold E. Williams, Mr. Hosler, Mr. Lynn, Miss Krueger, and Miss Allen. As the result of student suggestions, the "Little Brown Jug" was placed in the Trophy Case and a campaign was organized against smoking on school premises. The council demonstrated the spirit of graciousness in Libbey by acting as escorts to the visiting members of the Evaluating Committee. The pep-meeting preceding the famous Central-Libbey basketball game attested to the ability of the Council to rouse the spirit of the students.

SPANISH CLUB

If by accident you wander into a meeting some Monday afternoon and hear the minutes being read in a foreign language, don't become frightened. It's not the Japs. After a little investigation you will probably find that it is the Spanish Club having their regular meeting. The minutes are always read in Spanish at the meetings of the club but they are translated for those who might forget Spanish. All the members of this group help to make the meetings interesting by giving reports on Spanish customs or countries. Books about Spain or by Spanish authors are also reviewed by members of the group. If things become dull at some of the meetings, "los estudiantes" enjoy themselves playing Spanish games. The group visited the Art Museum in March while the Chilian exhibition was on display and reports were brought to members who did not attend. When it was possible, the club with the aid of their advisers, Miss Russell and Miss Coehrs, brought speakers from the outside who presented interesting ideas to the organization.

In May, the club again held their annual banquet, with Ralph Herold as chairman of the committee planning the event. This year the club chose for their distinction, yellow sweaters, with purple emblems. The Tertulia Catellana, or in English, the Spanish Club, was led by Betty Larsen, president. Assisting Betty, were Ralph Herold, vice-president; Dora Gearhart, secretary; Jerry Harmon, treasurer; Jack Warwick, sergeant-at-arms.

LATIN HONOR AND FRENCH

The Latin Honor and French Club can both be proud of their members, and their members can be proud of the clubs. In order to gain memberhip in the Latin Honor Society, a student must have an "A" average for two consecutive semesters, and in order to retain his membership his average must not fall below a "B." This society is inactive in the fact that it holds no meetings, but it is active in the fact that it awards honors to outstanding Latin pupils. The club, under the capable direction of Mrs. Burton, gives the outstanding Latin student the Latin Honor Sociey medal and the Eta Sigma Phi medal to the outstanding Senior Latin student at graduation. The club usually sponsors the annual Latin exhibit in the spring. The officers of the society this year were Alice Thompson, president; James Trautwein, vice-president; and Suzanne Tonkin, secretary.

Although the French club has been somewhat smaller than usual, it has functioned well and this has been one of the best years of the French Club era. The group chose the subject of outstanding Frenchmen in the eighteenth and nineteenth century to discuss as their topic. The officers who served throughout the year were president, Ralph Shank; vice-president, James Tobias; secretary, Bernadine Robackavicty; treasurer, Norma Chestnut. Every member assisted and co-operated with their adviser, Miss Krueger, teacher of the French language.

DRAMATIC - PROJECTION CLUBS

If you want to know anything about what goes on off-stage or on-stage you can ask a member of the Dramatic Club. If you want to know how to run a film, ask the members of the Projection Club. They all can tell you. Under the direction of Miss Costigan, the Dramatic Club again this year kept the school entertained with their fine stage productions. The year began with the senior class play, "The Ghost Flies South," keeping the audience laughing for two full hours. Not to be outdone by the seniors, the juniors came along with "Through the Night" which was done equally as well as the senior play. The first one act plays given were, "Grandma-Old Style" and "The Teapot on the Rocks." The Club once again closed the season with their annual banquet. The group's officers were Bill Schmeltz, president; John Saunders, vice-president; Lillian Donley, recording secretary; Donna Pollex, corresponding secretary; Ralph Cole, treasurer.

The Projection Club has also brought results from their work. Every hour of the day, there are at least five members of the club who give up a study period in order to show educational movies to the students. Although the club is but two years old, it has already become a well-known club distinguished by the blue sweaters worn by the members. Everyone, of course, remembers the very successful skating party of this group early in the year; and the pledges will never forget the roast after their initiation. With Mr. Lincke as their adviser, the officers carried out their duties very efficiently. They were Ray Wisner, president; Frances Bock, vice-president; Elizabeth Kern, secretary; Herman Meuth, treasurer.

"LIB" AND CLASSICAL LEAGUE

Forward and backward—the "Lib" to the future; the Classical League to the past. Original in the fact that it is the only magazine of its kind put out by any high school in the United States, "The Lib" consists of both cartoons and articles created by the members of the staff. Published twice a year, this magazine enjoyed great popularity on both of its appearances. The staff was made up of Gordon Gomoll, editor; Carol Ashley, Nancy MacPhie, Joe Dick and Ernie Muszynski, cartoonists; June Lennen, fashion editor; Betty Larsen, Joyce Smith, Miriam Davidson, columnists; and Lena Williams, business manager.

Organized only this year, the Libbey Classical League was governed in the same manner as was the Roman Republic, the officers even having Latin titles. The consuls, corresponding to the presidents of other clubs, were James Trautwein and Gloria Moore; the praetors who served very much as secretaries, were Dick Ganoom and Joe Lenga; the curule aedile, who handled all of the club's social affairs, was Don Schatz; and the quaestor, who equals a treasurer, was John Ritter. The following people held positions in organizing the club: Suzanne Tonkin, Paul Roloff, Dick Kuhr, and Don Meeker. The advisers, who did the greater part of the work involved in organizing and launching the club on its way, are Mrs. Burton and Miss Eberth. The club's activities intended to be half educational and half social, have included a theatre party, a Christmas roast, a conducted tour through the glass exhibits at the Toledo Art Museum, as well as a private lecture on the same, and other activities carried on at business meetings. At Christmas and at Easter, the Club sent out the Latin Christmas and Easter stories, taken from the Latin Bible, to Latin clubs and classes.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

Perhaps one of the greatest aids of the Commercial Club people toward finding a job, will be their experience in the Commercial Club. Although they have not been strictly business, they have found out a great deal about the business world from outside speakers. Among their speakers was an alumna of the club, Betty Thompson, who now works in the Chamber of Commerce. Miss Thompson brought back a few tips to the club pertaining to office practice.

In response to the club's desire to know how to gain a position, the personnel director of Sears, Roebuck and Company brought a few ideas to the group about the importance of good personal grooming and the approach to use when trying to obtain a job. The social life of the club was also interesting. They started with a roast in the fall and a very successful skating party. Then, to be a little different from the other clubs, they held an after-school dance in the gym which also proved to be quite a success. Everyone remembers the gala party that was given at Christmas time and, of course, the banquet which was held in May was interesting both in the line of food and entertainment. This prosperous year was due a great deal to the help of the advisers, Mrs. Houser and Mr. Osgood, and to the efficiency of the officers who were Evelyn Dority, president; Anna Rotondo, vice-president; Irene Robrahn, secretary; Carolyn Schmid, treasurer.

LIBBEY'S ARCHITECTURAL CLUB

Libbey's Architectural Club can be justly proud of its accomplishments, and especially proud of its awards from the Ohio State Junior Fair. The Club was the triumphant winner of the "Sweepstakes Award" for they received the most points for drawings entered in the Fair. Virgil Mooney was honored for having the highest total of points while Mr. Packer was presented with an award for being the instructor of the prize-winning boys. The vocational and social programs of the club were all thoroughly successful. For most of their vocational programs, the society had noted cartoonists, designers, a contractor, and an industrial arts instructor as guest speakers. At a meeting early in the year, they had an interesting report on the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company. They opened their social season with a roast at Pearson Park for the newly initiated pledges and members. Their first theatre party turned out so well that they had three others throughout the year. The Architects held their banquet towards the end of the year. The club had as special guests at their banquet, former members of Libbey's Architectural Club.

In connection with their work, the club and the drawing classes took several trips to construction jobs and to buildings of distinction in Toledo. The Club sponsored the small house competition for the drawing classes and others interested in the competition. It was divided into two classes: one for those who are not so well experienced, and another for those who have had at least two years drawing experience. Prizes were awarded for the first three places in each division. The drawings were judged by local practicing architects. The officers for this past year were: Virgil Mooney, president; Lester Retzke, vice-president; William Weber, secretary; Eunice Van Vranken, treasurer; and Robert Bohnsack, sergeant-at-arms.

HOME ECONOMICS - ENGINEERING

The Libbey boys' and girls' vocational clubs equal each other in their activities. The Economics Club believes in keeping in step with the time. As their theme for the past year they used "Home Economics in National Defense." Their programs, centering around this watchword, brought out the degree of change present and future, in our daily lives that is brought about by the national crisis. Before this year the region of which this club is a part had never held a regional conference. Libbey's club took the initiative last fall and organized a conference. It was such a success that the girls hope it will be continued throughout the years. The playlet, "Willing to Help" that was given at the conference was enjoyed so much that the girls have been requested to give a scond performance at the annual state convention in June. The club also helped in the national crisis by making scrap books for Libbey boys now in the services of their country. A formal initiation and a pot luck supper were given for new members, and a formal banquet in the spring bid farewell to the senior members. The club was directed by Jacqueline Denzig, president, who was aided by Margie Kirkman, vice-president; Dorothy Extijt, secretary; George Reasor, treasurer; and Phyllis Brownmiller, reporter.

The Society started out its round of activities with a roast in the fall. The skating party held in March was one of the most successful of the year, and many stories have been told of the tumbles taken there. During April, the members showed films in the auditorium, and then wound up the year with a banquet. The club was ably led by Warren Bradley, president; Dick Nettermeyer, vice-president; Stanley Momot, secretary; Paul Lafferty, treasurer; Gerald Gaynor, sergeant-at-arms; and the advisers: Mr. Sterling and Mr. Fast.

ALCHEMISTS AND BIOLOGY

The scientific-minded people in Libbey are interested in chemistry and biology. Many of them increase their knowledge of science as members of the Alchemists or the Biology Club. The Alchemists began their year with the initiation of new members which was worked out very cleverly dealing with the study of chemistry as its beginning. Shortly after initiation the members gave a roast at Side-Cut Park for the pledges. Because of government restrictions the club was unable to take a trip through the Libbey-Owens-Ford Plate Glass Company as they planned, but they did visit the filtration plant in the spring. They also enjoyed an interesting lecture and demonstration on several types of welding given by Mr. Lockwood. The officers assisting Mr. Vossler, the adviser, were Carl Weinstock, president; Jack Harris, vice-president; Frances Padgett, secretary; and Rita Jachimiak, treasurer.

This past year the Biology Club was led by underclassmen. Almost all of the officers this year were sophomores. Robert Bashore, president was assisted by Betty Campbell, vice-president; Evelyn Lee, secretary; Ilabell Lee, treasurer; and Robert Jaegly, sergeant-at-arms. Like the other clubs in the school, the Biology Club started out by taking in new members and had much fun initiating them. Miss Fiedler and Mr. Robinson, advisers of the club, enjoyed along with the students the many good speakers who participated in the club's program. Fortunately for the biologists, one of the speakers was Mr. Van Cleve from Robinson Junior High School. Both the Alchemists and the Biology Club feel they have completed another worthwhile year.

LIBBEY'S MUSICAL ORGANIZATIONS

"Tenors, you sing flat! Girls, open your mouths! Please watch the director. Don't sing over that two-beat rest! Basses, learn your part!" These and many other "softly-spoken words" can be heard coming from the auditorium during a chorus rehearsal. The choral groups of Libbey work many hard hours under the very fine direction of Libbey's own Kenneth Holland for improvement in their singing ability. At the beginning of the year, individual voices are tested and the singers are placed in one of three groups: Glee Club, Girls' Chorus, or Mixed Chorus. The Glee Club is the beginning chorus and participates in several school concerts during the year. The high point of their program this past year was an Armistice Day song-fest in which they were assisted by several students from the public speaking classes. This was the first musical program to be broadcast over the school's loud-speaking system, and the experiment proved very successful. The Glee Club assisted in the concert given a week before Christmas by the combined choral groups of the school. Many beautiful carols were sung and fine numbers rendered by each group separately. This concert won much praise for Mr. Holland, the choruses, and our school.

Girls, girls, and more girls—and all singers, too! The Girls' Chorus was newly organized by Mr. Holland this year; a trial which proved to be very satisfactory. The members of this group held a joint concert with the men of the Orpheus Club in the school auditorium which was indeed worthy of much praise. A novel idea was manifest in the Christmas Concert when the girls sang "O, Holy Night" behind a curtain, making the beautiful carol doubly effective. The annual May Festival helped to make these girls, as well as the rest of the music department, acquire a fine sunburn before summer.

"Please watch me! What do you think I'm doing up here, directing traffic?" So boomed Mr. Holland one day to the sixth hour chorus. The Mixed Chorus met this year in Room 444 during sixth hour when most good students and all bad ones are weary of work and ready to go home. Despite this handicap, however, the members of this group knew much hard application to produce the fine concerts they gave during Lent. The Mixed Chorus sings mostly sacred music, the culmination of which was the Palm Sunday concert this spring. Three broadcasts were given by this organization from W.S.P.D. at different times during the year. The chorus also participated in the Christmas Concert, the band concert in May, and the May Festival. A new plan was tried by this group, that of organizing for closer cooperation and more efficient work. The following officers were elected: Donna Pollex, president; Jean Emmel, secretary; Noah Broadway, librarian; and Bob Byers, business manager.

Proud of their new uniforms and anxious to show them off, the band made a fine display at every football game. They were loudly applauded at Clay High School in the spring, and gave a fine broadcast on the new series of programs, "Let Us Make Music." The band led the singing in the football mass meetings, and several members of the group participated in the Christmas Concert given by the choral groups. The second annual band concert was given in the Civic Auditorium on May 6. Libbey owes much to Mr. Holland and his musical organizations for their fine work done this year.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

If the basketball or football teams aren't practicing in the gym after school, you can usually find the Girls' Athletic Association taking part in some form of athletics. They aren't so bad, either. Last fall their favorite sport seemed to have been vollyball. But if you're wondering where the girls got their perfect figures, they probably were attained through bowling. Starting early in the fall, the girls bowled regularly until the spring. During this time there were many strikes scored to their credit. Along with bowling, the girls also enjoyed archery but in the winter they turned to basketball, in which sport they had many tough battles too. The meetings were presided over by Dorothy Brisbin, president; assisted by June Stine, vice president; Betty Lou DeVaunt, secretary; and Louise Breitner, treasurer. The advisers of the club were Miss Maher and Miss Atwell, who is new to Libbey this year. Between the sunshine and the showers of the spring the girls went out on the tennis court or some of them preferred to stay in the gym and play vollyball. Some of the girls liked to play softball on the practice field.

Along with their other activities, the group also enjoyed a roast at Miss Maher's home in April. At their banquet many of the girls received awards and letters and the new officers were installed. Miss Maher and Miss Atwell should be congratulated on their splendid supervision of the girls and their arrangement of tournaments. Taking part in sports is a fine way for high school girls to keep their bodies healthy and to spend their leisure time.

ATHLETICS

DR. CHARLES H. WILLIAMS

Year follows year and great changes take place affecting many people, but of one thing we are sure, that Dr. Charles H. Williams will continue to be the good and generous friend of Libbey High School. Modest and retiring, Dr. Williams appears very seldom before the student body, but his constant thoughtfulness and interest are made manifest in the gifts that he presents each year to the school. Through his beneficient kindness the building has been enriched in beauty by the many fine pictures we have; the trophy case gleams with objects that serve as incentives to boys in every phase of athletics. To the entire student body Dr. Williams stands as a pattern of loyalty and devotion to Libbey and from them he merits gratitude and extreme respect.

TROPHIES

Among the most coveted trophies to be received each year by any Libbey student are those donated by Dr. Charles H. Williams. Of these, one is given to the outstanding basketball player, and one to the highest scorer in track. Not included in the athletic department, but of equal interest and beauty to any of the awards of that department, are the trophies that are presented each year to the outstanding senior girl and the outstanding senior boy. Dr. Williams also presents a cup each to the boy and the girl who sell the greatest number of tickets for the Libbey Carnival. From various other sources Libbey had added to the collection in the trophy cabinet. Listed as they appear in the illustration below are the following: the W.S.P.D. Football Award; the University of Michigan's Toledo Club Trophy; the Little Brown Jug, the Scott-Libbey argument; the Harry T. Stapleton Award, given by the Downtown Coaches Association; the District Cross Country Award for 1941; the Glass Bowl Football Trophy awarded to Libbey last fall by the Libbey · Owens · Ford Glass Company, and the W.S.P.D. Basketball Award.

IN COMMAND

The coaching program of Libbey is carried on by a group of men who are both enthusiastic and efficient. In charge of the reserve football teams, Mr. Jeffrey continues his work into the basketball season with a peppy reserve squad and later in the year rounds the baseball nine into an active season. Instructing the freshmen in the knowledge of football tactics is the work of Mr. Robinson and Mr. Holland. The former also supervises the training of the freshman basketball team. Track and cross country engage the interest of Mr. Everhart during the entire year practically, while Mr. Spackey instructs the boys in tennis and golf. While not so spectacular as the work of the varsity groups, the results of the work of the boys supervised by this group of men is very important. Constantly checking on the health program of the department are Dr. Wilmarth Paine, the dentist in charge of Libbey's athletic group; Dr. R. C. Young, M.D.; and Dr. R. D. Ladd, O.D.

BASKETBALL

Coach Bill Orwig, the head and brains of the team is outstanding among the basketball coaches in the city.

Warren Schoonover, co-captain and senior regular for his second year played a forward position and was a very good man to have on our team.

Marvin Pasch, a senior regular for his first time on the varsity is a short little fellow who wasn't afraid to guard the big boys.

Lee Pete is a junior whom we will be expecting to see in action next year.

Fred Westfall, a junior guard, has a special one-hand push shot, which he will be making again next year.

Bill Knapp, a senior forward is a good shot with either hand.

Jim Unger, a regular forward in his junior year, is better known as Skippy and is a good shot.

Bob Johnson, a senior and a good ball player, is a boy any school would be glad to get.

Rol Henning, a regular in his senior year, was our high scorer and ball hawk. All the boys in the city know his ability to get the ball.

Wally Bruce, co-captain and senior regular for his second year, is a very good floor man and an excellent player who played a guard position, usually guarding the high scorer of other teams.

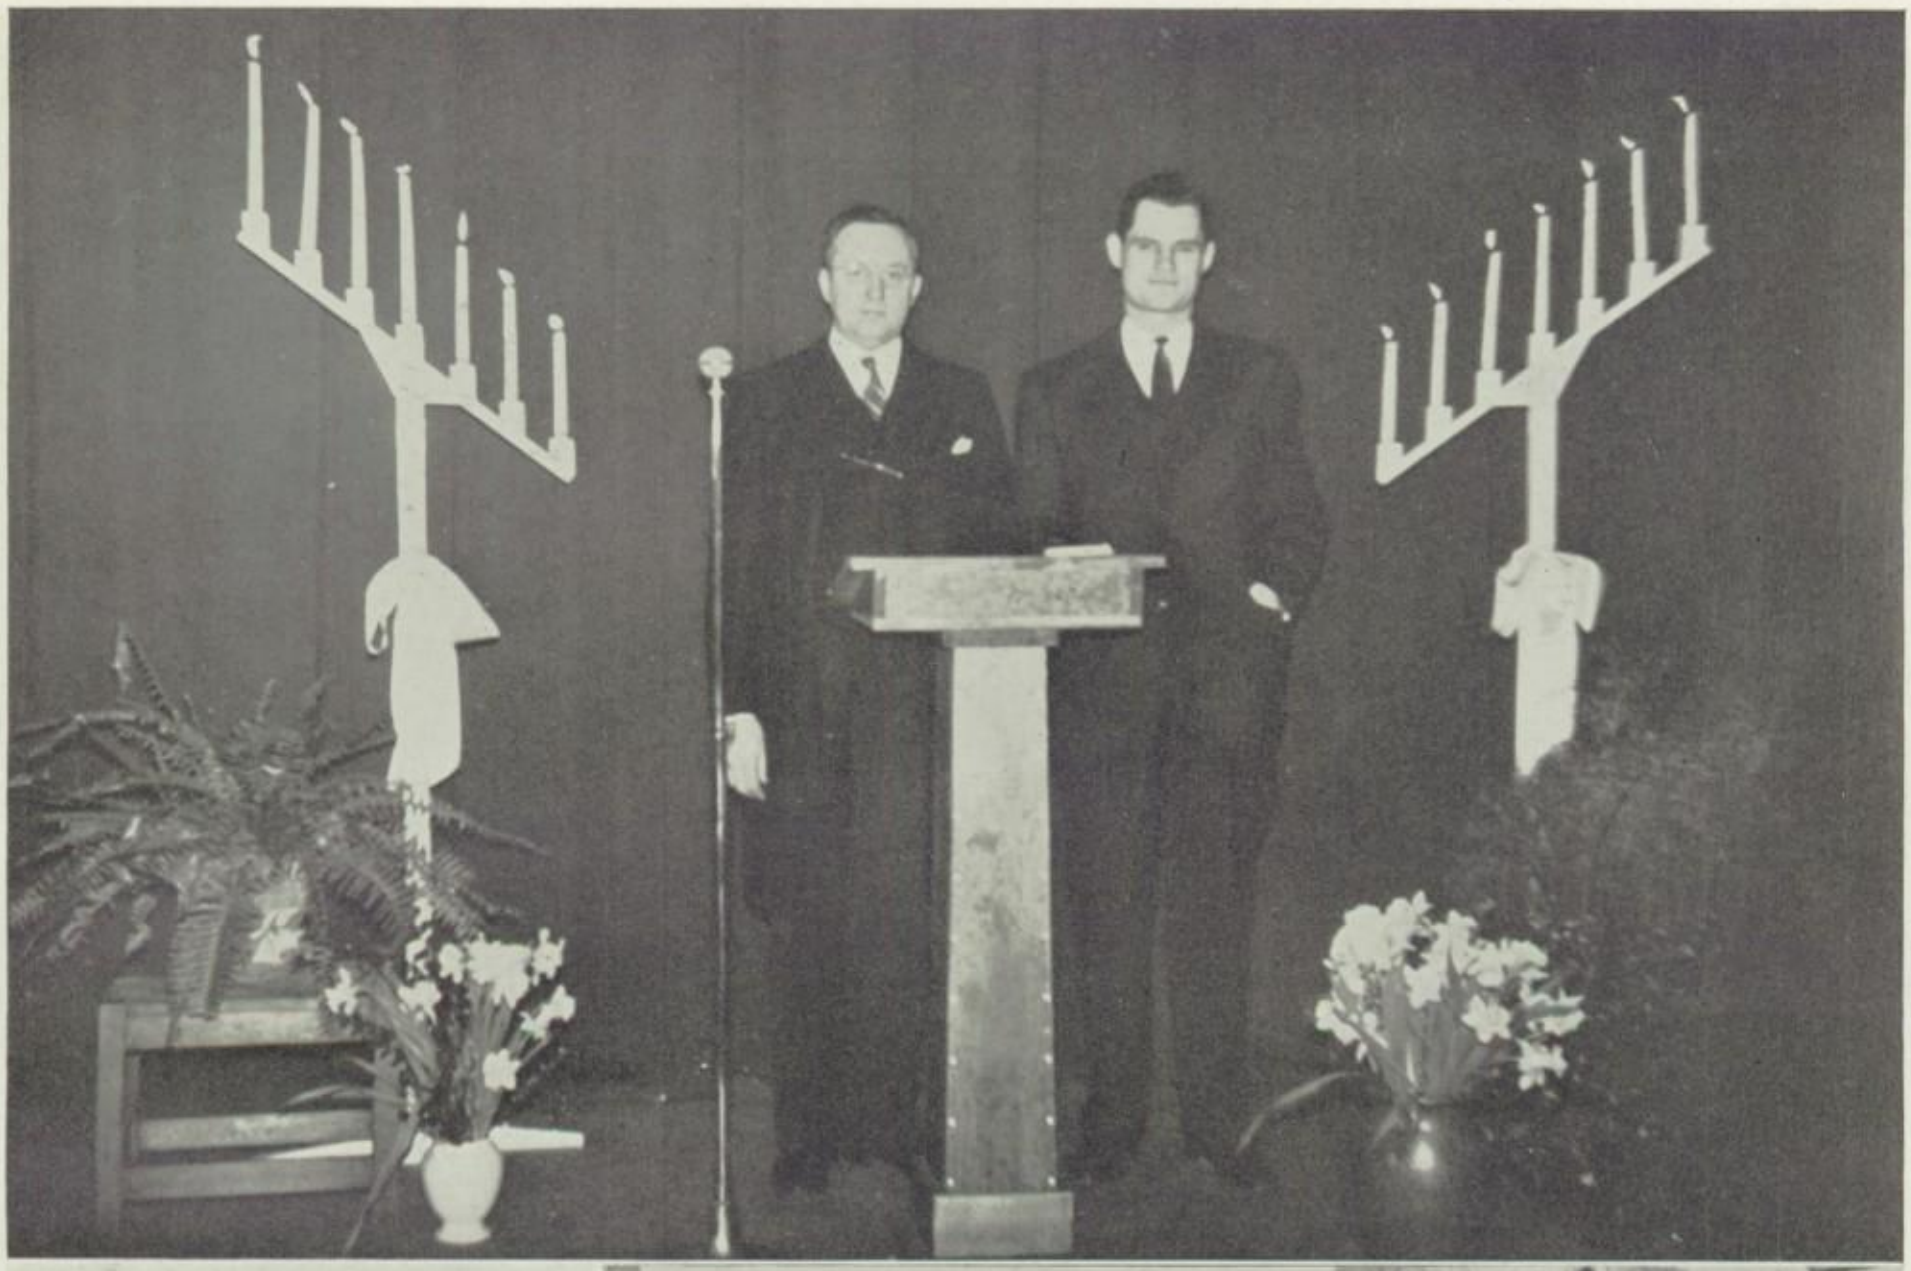
1—Well, well, a sergeant in the Air Corps. 2—Gosh, Jerry, was he in that bad a shape? 3—This is station W8WFR calling! 4—Adabelle proves a point in biology. 5—Shake well in case of fire; no not the hose! 6—Not a traffic jam, just an air raid drill. 7—How do you feel now, Denver? 8—A budding machinist, Libbey style. 9—Twelve little managers, all in a row; give 'em the word and watch 'em go. 10—Concert? No, just practicing. 11—Place, press forward, release, rest: Monotonous, isn't it?

1—Mr. Williams is about to give the morning announcements. 2—Dean Brown is greatly helped by Dorothy Kachenmeister and Kayris Barnes. 3—A pretty reflection, Jean! 4—Pauline Lantz, Betty Campbell, Vivian Dais, Rita Jachimiak, Dorothy Sparks, Betty Warner, Rosemary Roach, Ava Frizzell, Dorothy Redman, Faun Stoll, Mathilda Dybala, Jo Ann Peters, and Bonnie Freeman are inducted into the Senior Friendship Club.



1—The Reverend Mr. S. C. Michelfelder and the Reverend Mr. Lloyd Holloway conduct one of Libbey's Lenten services. 2—Jane Monetta presents Mrs. Wagner, a loyal patron of Libbey's foottball games. 3—Jane Moore is studious, really! 4—A proud Mr. Robinson instructs his young son in football tactics.

An Appreciation

Libbey High School wishes to extend its sincere thanks to

The Owens-Illinois Glass Company and particularly to

Mr. T. K. Almroth and Mr. C. J. Adamshick

for the gracious courtesies they have so generously extended to the Edelian of 1942
